

Policy Agreement

Ver - 1.0 (w.e.f.-01.01.2017)

(Rules and Regulations to be followed by the Company and Bloggers.)

SL	Policies
1.	The Free Portal is meant for encouraging people who have some kind of talent and looking for a web based portal to publish their talent to the world free of cost.
2.	Since this is not a commercial space, hence the blogger will not be able to display any personal contact details, in the space. However you may avail a contact form by paying Rs.100 per month rental.
3.	The Blogger will publish only their original content, which is developed by them or made by them and not copied from some other place.
4.	Due to security and maximum publicity reasons, the bloggers have to follow Hindi or English language only for publishing their contents.
5.	If somehow we find that you are not following the policies of the company, or you are misusing the free space, we hold the rights to terminate our agreement and remove your link and content from our site.
6.	The company holds the right to change it's policies for the betterment of the company and its associates in majority, without any prior intimation to its associates. However the changed policy will be circulated among its associates for the implementation purpose.
7.	From time to time, the company will provide necessary trainings for the development of bloggers. The bloggers are requested to follow the same for their personal development and leading to self development and development of the company. Since the company believes in the concept of group working and growth, the bloggers are requested to co-ordinate with the same and grow.
8.	In case of any disputes or issues, we advise bloggers to solve the issues with mutual conversations and meetings, instead of looking for legal advisories at first attempt.

